

LORD FORGIVE THEM

By Michele Wagner

References: Isaiah 53, Romans 1:25, 5:8, Luke 23:34

Verse 1

My God my God, why have you forsaken me?
I know it's time that I must die
For all your children I wear their shame I wear their pain That they might gain your love and your life
I know that there's a reason for this darkness
I know there's a reason for this day.

Chorus

Lord forgive them, for they know not what they do
Their hearts are torn in two
They're living a lie
Your forgiveness can heal their hearts within and free them from their sin
That they might have your life
Oh I pray they have your life

Verse 2

They laugh at me they say that I'm not king of kings
I feel alone I'm so afraid
They stare at me while they pierce my hands and feet Yet do not see the love in my eyes
My love is strong enough to die for them
This love could love no other way

Bridge

With love the veil has been torn in two for
With love I cry and commit my spirit to you

Ending

I pray they have your life I pray they have your life
